

How to Update the Javadocs on the Website

How to update the javadocs on the website

The Javadocs are built during the normal release process, and released with the distribution. The Javadocs for the current release are kept in SVN in the website project, under docs/downloads/releaseDocs/x.y.z-incubating/docs/api.

Please see the instructions for building and releasing a distribution for how to do this.