Instructions for Granting Karma to Committers

First, the account must be created. That process is detailed in the PMC FAQ http://www.apache.org/dev/pmc.html.

Even though the message from Infra confirming that account creation is complete implies that the PMC has another step of "granting karma", usually the account is created with all permissions in place.

This can be verified by following the instructions in the section of the above linked page on granting svn access to committers, going to the whimsy roster tool to look up the list of committers on the SpamAssassin project.

That list is generated from the same LDAP records used to grant access.
