(a simple revision of the original logo, cleaned up a little bit. contact info at <http://jmason.org/>. source at <http://taint.org/saimgs/logosrc/salogosrc/>)

ba Blakely

A few files I've whipped up in Fireworks, which is why I only have PNGs for src files. The rest of the files can be obtained from my server at <http://www.babakely.com/SALogos>. Drop me a line at bab@babakely.com with any questions. Good luck everyone!

If you need this logo I will fix the spelling 😊 It was a bit late when I was working on it 😊 This is a start. I'll work a bit more on another one but I have to say you have plenty of choice from some good logo's. Good work to all of you.

This logo focusses on the the ninja/protective aspect. A better approach would better convey the concept of "filtering email." Other sizes can be readily prepared. contact: spamassassinLogo@michaeldouma.com

David Marín

This is my basic idea. It must be improved, but I think that this schematic ninja with katana is cool!

Michael Douma

Based on a shuriken, a bladed instruments commonly used as throwing weapons by the ninja. It combines the shuriken, arrows, and apache-like colors. Credit Daniel Quinlan for the idea. The shuriken idea could possibly be expanded to be "protecting" a mailbox, or "shredding/rejecting" spam, but those implementations risk the appearance or destroying all email. Other sizes can be readily prepared. contact: spamassassinLogo@michaeldouma.com

A shuriken made of rotated emails, in four versions. Also suggests filtering as one email is ham and others are spam. Other sizes can be readily prepared.

Christian Rauh

This is mostly a draft of the concept. Association with Apache name and colors are self-explaining I believe.

Colors, font, etc. may be changed. In particular, someone has already suggested having a 3Dish coloring (winxp style) instead of flat, I like flat, but I could do that.

Another variation (although I prefer the original):

Marcello Stanley

Basicly i'm playing with the idea of "frying the spam". The 'cut' spam already on a frying pan (black circle) and 'assassin' as the pan handle. Trying to play with a tinge of humour noting that ~~after all~~ spamassasin tries keep the fun part internet experience by eliminating the junks. I try to keep the form simple for easy reproduction, and pure black to keep the serious tone. It can be done with other solid font and i might try to make it later.

This is just a prototype, quick and dirty! I wanted to combine an assassin's tool (shurikin, since ninja seems to be a popular direction) with the Apache feather.

Michael Douma

Walter Kobylanski has one of the most innovative logos. Here is an idea from Michael Douma for making Walter's idea a little more friendly by adding colors, using a more serious typeface, and rotating the @/shuriken slightly. (If his logo is chosen, Walter surely could offer other ideas.)
