Project and ASF information

Apache Software Foundation Related Information.

"The Apache Software Foundation provides support for the Apache community of open-source software projects. The Apache projects are characterized by a collaborative, consensus based development process, an open and pragmatic software license, and a desire to create high quality software that leads the way in its field.

We are more than a group of projects sharing a server, we are a community of developers and users."

http://www.apache.org/